

What to Expect During Your Regular Visits

Regular Visits

After the investment of time needed on the first and second visits, many patients become concerned that every visit will be of equal length, but this is not the case.

Typical routine office visits require only about 10 to 15 minutes, but don't think the brevity and convenience of our regular visits lessens its value! With the important groundwork laid on your first and second visit, we can quickly size up the condition of your spine and nervous system, adjust you and get you back into the game of your life.

Like a regular workout at the gym, each visit builds on the next. We recognize your time is valuable, so we do everything possible to run on time and minimize the impact on your busy life. Our average patient waits less than 5 minutes to be seen by the doctor on their regular visit!
